Remarkable Sale of Men's Tweed Suits

100 New Suits—50 of them have TWO PAIRS of Trousers—Regular Values $30, $35 and $40

—THE STYLES ARE NEW! The materials of dependable quality! The patterns smart and correct for spring! The price is only $25 and the value is, we believe, the best this city has seen in years. Single or double-breasted English models, semi and conservative styles, as well as half and full suit models. A big selection of patterns in herringbone, radio weaves, stripes, checks and fancy mixtures in blue, fawn, grey, green and local shades. Sizes 34 to 46. Note particularly that fifty of these Suits have TWO PAIR OF TROUSERS. Actual and approved values $30, $35 and $40. Take your choice Saturday at $25. Worth coming early.

27 Boys' Suits—Genuine FOX Navy Serge—Regular $15 to 16.50

—THE BETTER SORT OF SUITS from our regular stock at a price that should clear the lot in double quick time. Sizes 31, 32 and 33. Smartly tailored in Norfolk and platted back styles. Every Suit has TWO PAIRS OF BLOOMERS. Remember: These Suits are made from the genuine FOX's standard serge in fast navy blue. In our regular stock these Suits were priced at $15 to 16.50. Just twenty seven to clear Saturday at 10.95. If you want a better Suit for your boy, come when the store opens at 9 o'clock Saturday morning.

BIG RACE TO NORTH POLE

Five Expeditions Will Set Out On Flight Over North Pole

4 AIRPLANES AND 1 DIRIGIBLE ENTER Roald Amundsen's Undertaking Regarded as Most Ambitious

WASHINGTON, April 5.—The most romantic, daredevil race in history—a race for the north pole by air—is now on.

Five expeditions will sail over the white reaches of the limitless ice fields in new quests for information, undiscovered lands and adventure. Four of the expeditions will go by air. The fifth will be by a dirigible. This latter expedition is headed by the famous Roald Amundsen, discoverer of the south pole and literary explorer of the lands of eternal winter. He will be accompanied by Lincoln Ellsworth, wealthy young American. A big dirigible has been especially constructed for them in Italy, and sixteen men will be in their party.

In a way, this is the most ambitious undertaking of the kind. Their flight, financed by the Norwegian Aero club and the Italian government, begins at Rome. They will fly to the Norwegian flag. They hope to be able to start within a few days. From there they will fly to Spitzbergen, that lonely island far up on the coast of the Arctic Ocean. The explorers are undecided whether to fly by way of the Arctic or the Norwegian flag.

Provided all plans go through properly, another expedition will be taking off for the pole just as the time Amundsen's dirigible leaves Spitzbergen. This is an expedition sponsored by the Detroit Aviation Society and the National Geographic Society, and it has already established a base at Point Barrow, Alaska. It is headed by two distinguished Americans, Captain George H. S. Messersmith, of the U. S. Army, and Major Thomas H. Lamson, commander of the first army patrol group.

Also during this month, the steamer or charter will sail from New York for Spitzbergen with a party of explorers. Led by Lieutenant Commander Richard E. Byrd, the party will consist of a three-engine Ford plane will be assembled and Byrd, with one companion, will fly off for the pole.

Direct reports to fly first to Cape North, the extreme north end of Greenland, and establish a base there. This will cut the distance that will have to be made in home-ported flight. Two members of the famous group of American army aviators who flew around the world will lead the fourth flight, an expedition headed by E. F. Cress, John D. Rockefeller, Jr., and others. The expedition will fly to the Arctic Ocean, and then to the North Pole, and will be expected to return by the same route.

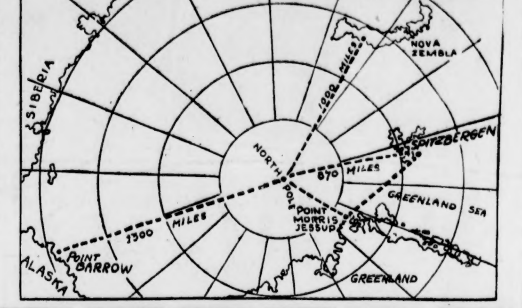

The fifth air expedition will be headed by Lieutenant Commander Byrd, who will fly to the Arctic Ocean, and then to the North Pole, and will be expected to return by the same route.

The "Not Pardon" list is extraordinary and has been carried as a convenience during the absence of the members of the expedition, or (b) the list is not a "Not Pardon" list.

Above is the Italian-built dirigible N-1, in which Roald Amundsen and his party will attempt a flight to the North Pole. Below is a map of the region the five expeditions will cover. It shows the flight paths from which the various flights will start.

ALBERTA HAS CAPABLE S.S.B. PREMIER SAYS

Officials Here Doing Utmost to Help Settlers Make Good

Work of the Land Settlement Board in Alberta is so capable, says the premier, that the men in charge are doing their best to make settlers on farms where they will have a chance to make good. Hon. J. E. Brownlee, premier of Alberta, said this today in a speech at a luncheon given by the provincial authorities to the members of the Land Settlement Board.

The premier's statement came after a G. Andrews of Red Deer had brought to the attention of the board the fact that the board was doing its best to make settlers on farms where they will have a chance to make good.

Whose Advertising Bills Do YOU Pay, Mr. Merchant?

By Lee Fleming

The Store that doesn't advertise pays the advertising bill for the one that does

Every merchant in business pays for advertising, whether he uses it or not. If a competitor's advertising takes any business away from him, the profit he would have made on the lost sale is what his competitor's advertising cost him.

You have, perhaps, wondered how some stores can afford to spend such enormous sums for advertising. That is easy to fathom. Their competitor, who does not advertise and whose business they take, pays for their advertising.

Say the Jones family is a customer of your store. They have $60, which they intend to spend with you. They read the advertisement of your competitor and are induced to spend their $60 with him instead of spending it with you. The store makes 20 per cent, or $12, on the sale. They deduct, we will say, the $1 advertising cost and have $11 profit left. The advertising has cost them nothing, they got back its cost and had $11 profit they would not have had only for their advertising.

Who paid for this advertising?

Did the advertiser pay? No. He got the cost back, and profit besides.

Did the purchaser pay? No. He paid only the regular price.

Then who did pay?

The store that did not advertise paid for his competitor's advertising. He not only paid for the other fellow's advertising, but he paid out of his cash drawer the profit his competitor made on the sale. The store that doesn't advertise pays the advertising bill for the one that does. He pays in loss of sales, profits, and increased costs.

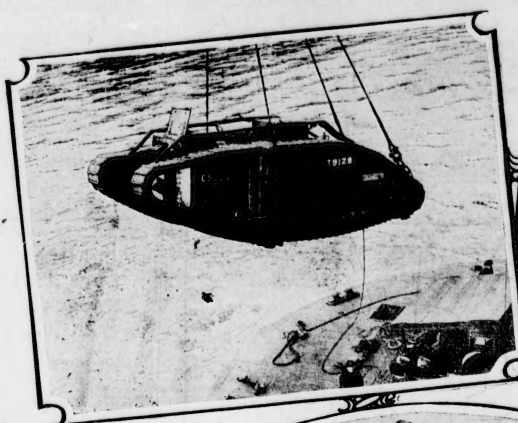

The store that loses business through not advertising has such high overhead and unit sale cost that it cannot possibly sell goods as cheaply as the store that increases its sales and reduces its cost with advertising.—Fleming Pilot.

Peter the Great
a Real Dog Star

PLAYING HERE

Plenty of Variety Features in This Week's Vaudeville Offering

For sheer dramatic acting coupled with magnificent thrills, it is probably the most dramatic that could be compared with "Wild Justice," the new dramatic production of the great police dog, Peter the Great.

"Wild Justice" opened at the theatre last night for a three day run. It completely captivated the audience with its every indication that it will set new box-office figures before the end of the run.

Peter the Great actually carries away the honours. In "Wild Justice," he performs feats of athletic prowess that are truly magnificent, and frequently displays almost human understanding, if it is essentially a dog story, and as such will delight all the recipients of their friendship.

Peter the Great, while one of the new canine stars of the screen, certainly has no peer in the field. He is the largest of the police dog celebrities, and apparently has been schooled until his training is a thing of which to marvel.

In "Wild Justice," he has his human support, George Sherman, the young brother-in-law of the play, displays remarkable talent. Francis Torrence, comedian, brings to the picture a real dramatic quality. Frank Higgins, the comedy actor, is the dependable "Bob Hink."

It is noteworthy that the direction was by Chester M. Franklin, whose name has adorned some of the most successful pictures with dog stars. In Peter the Great he has a new star of amazing quality.

"Wild Justice" is the production of John W. Considine, Jr. It marks the production of the son of the famous Considine whose name was in many years a synonym for excellence in unadorned and legitimate stage productions. It is interesting to note that young Considine's first picture has been deemed worthy of a feature place on the first schedule of United Artists Corporation.

MISS MILICENT HALLART of the Allen Players, who have opened their engagement at the Empire theatre in the comedy drama, "My Son."

Rolling Comedy
Is Playing at Rialto

"Wages for Wives," the screen comedy drama is now playing at the Rialto Theatre.

This rollicking comedy of married life is filled with familiar and laugh-provoking situations. The characters are easily recognized as the average folks who might live in any town where there are men and women.

There is the usual village plot where every character has his or her own part to play.

Then there is the village vintner who copies the latest fashion plates according to her own ideas of style and who furnishes most of the material for the daily backwash of the village. She successfully furnishes what "dresses" her in the picture and adds greatly to the interest and the comedy.

There is a particularly well-known village tale through her colored performance of the criminal heroine in the Fox film, which is a wider difference than equal effective result.

Comedy Drama at Empire Popular

But three opportunities tonight Saturday afternoon and evening, re-opens "My Son," the comedy drama with Miss Millicent Hallart and the Allen Players, who are coming here for the first time.

The scene is laid in Cape Cod among the native New Englanders who are brought into the picture by the Portuguese widow, Anna Silva, who is the mother of the hero, little Benito Silva, the sweetheart of his childhood, who is now a young man.

Anna's love and sorrow are so appealing that her neighbors come to her aid. A quaint set of circumstances was achieved and quieted her in the end. Felipe Vargas of her own people and the Yankee sheriff, who do all in their power to save Benito from the law, finally, Anna's sacrifice drew the sympathy that the boy will redeem himself.

There is a well balanced bill at Pantages this week with plenty of variety features.

Chief Jordan has a splendid opportunity to act for several weeks in a play for some months. A diversity of characters will be played, including an eighty five pound card, who is a real star in the play.

The Marcel Sisters offer a musical interlude of an operetta and a playlet. One plays the part of a girl who is a real star in the play.

There are comedy girls with a variety of acts. The act is a real star in the play.
